

POEM: STRENGTH OF A BLACK WOMAN

Ummulkhair Ahmed Buhari

State Teachers' Service Board, Sokoto ahmedummulkhair@gmail.com gsm +234 8036336913

STRENGTH OF A BLACK WOMAN

The black woman
What colour is your skin?
Though the sand has many colours
Brown is one

What does a black soil yield?
It breeds green plant, flowers of many colours
So vulnerable but beautiful
That is my Black woman

Whose back is ever so strong
Just like an anvil
The rain hit hard and accumulating
Giving the earth a green colour

On your back is a wool for tenderness
Many lay on it yet it's like a fur
The lines on your face are ever so visible
Burn by the Sun and yet still smiles at night

That is my Black woman

So beautiful

So Strong

So Smiling